Follow-up in person survey with LARC acceptors

Title: Client and provider experiences with removal of long-acting contraceptive methods in Senegal

Sponsor: Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation

Introduction

Hello. I am _____. You participated in a phone survey for FHI 360, IntraHealth Senegal, ASBEF, and the Ministry of Health in the last few weeks. I am one of the people conducting the same study.

Information About the Study

We are conducting follow-up interviews with about 550 women. For about 525 women, the interview is a survey questionnaire and for 25 other women, it is an in-depth interview that is more like a conversation. You were randomly selected for the survey. If you agree to participate, the interview will take between 30 and 45 minutes. I will ask questions about your experiences using your contraceptive method and about all the times you saw a provider about your method.

Confidentiality

We will not tell anyone if you participate. The information you tell us will be included in our report and that report will be shared with others, but we will not share any information that can be linked to you. We think that there is a small chance someone can find out what you told us. We will do all we can so that does not happen.

Possible Benefits

Results from this study may help improve health services for women in the future. It is an opportunity to share your experiences but there is no direct benefit to you.

Possible Risks

We think that your participation in this research study poses little risk to you. Your decision to participate or anything you tell me will not affect your ability to receive services. You do not have to answer any question you do not wish to answer. You can stop the interview at any time.

If You Decide Not to Be in the Study

You are free to decide if you want to do this follow-up interview or not. If you decide not to participate, your decision will not affect the health care you would normally receive.

Payment

We will offer you 5,000 CFA to compensate you for coming here today.

Withdrawing from the Study

You may end your participation without any penalty at any time and data from the interview will not be used. If you do withdraw, it will not change the health care you normally receive.
